

Settlers Park — a vibrant, thriving community

Home to nearly 400 residents, Settlers Park Retirement Village, nestled in the beautiful Sunshine Coast, first opened its doors in 1986.

The village is administered by the Settlers Park Association, a registered public benefit organisation and has a strong financial foundation supported by a team of competent staff, providing an exceptional lifestyle to those who choose to live there.

The governing board comprises elected representatives and is committed to creating a happy, healthy community where residents are engaged in community life and have a sense of meaning and purpose.

A top priority for those running the village is to ensure that everyone feels safe, cared-for and valued.

The facilities that underpin this priority include top-class 24-hour security and a care centre. The security measures include access control, perimeter electric fencing, armed response, patrols, camera surveillance, alarms and emergency buttons.

The care centre is comfortably appointed and well-equipped to provide both longer term frail care and shorter-term sick-bay facilities.

Designed to create a more homely and welcoming environment, the care centre has more than 30 suites with private bathrooms. Sick-bay facilities allow staff to minimise hospital admissions and accommodate and rehabilitate residents post-operatively, assisting in their recuperation and recovery.

An integrative approach is followed in terms of managing age-related diseases, such as dementia. This ensures affected residents remain part of the community while getting the specific care they need. An assisted living complex rounds off the care options available.

A team of professional nurses shares a wealth of knowledge and experience, including geriatric and palliative care, and provides round-the-clock care.

Other programmes that residents can make use of on a needs basis include home care, occupational therapy, medical assistance such as an ambulance service and a programme of psychosocial activities.

The pet-friendly Settlers Park Retirement Village is the place where you have everything in place to take care of you in your sunset years. Cottage options range from bedsits to spacious homes and there is also visitor accommodation available at reasonable rates.

The investment follows the life-right model which brings with it peace of mind in terms of security and care but also alleviates the worry of your home's maintenance.

This is all part of the investment as is the use of a bouquet of facilities and opportunities. To mention just a few, an on-site heated pool, well-stocked library, a reasonably priced restaurant and a jam-packed social events calendar.
